Thank you, Jane. On behalf of the Women’s Bureau, I’d like to thank our presenters for providing us with their expertise on tax planning. I’d also like to thank our listeners for joining the call. I’m sure you have learned some valuable information that will help you to get the better buck for your dollars. Our experts have helped us to think about taxes in a way that maybe some of us have never considered before. We live in a culture that provides so many services and programs by way of taxes. Through employment, owning a business or whether we purchase or sell, we all must pay taxes. So why not educate yourself and make the system work to your behalf?

I’d like for you to keep these few tax tips in mind as you prepare to make tax planning more effective for yourself in the coming years. Number one, organize your tax information as soon as you receive it. Number two, keep good tax records. Number three, consider seeking the advice of a professional tax consultant, and number four, file your return on time. These tips work great for me and I hope they’ll do the same for you. On a personal note, my mom is 83 years old and she still files a return each year and on time, and believe me, she receives a refund as well. Also, there is a wealth of information and resources available online and at your local library. Take the time to research and learn as much as you can. And remember, knowledge is power.

This concludes our call for today. Please join us for our next Wi$e Up teleconference call on Friday, May 31st at 12:00 p.m. Eastern Standard Time. The topic will be Estate Planning. To listen to recordings of previous calls, visit the Wi$e Up Web site at www.wiseupwomen.org. Again, thank your for participating.
