Cynthia Dawkins: And thank you again, this has been a wonderful call. We've learned a lot, and now we have closing remarks from Sarah Miller.

Sarah Miller: Thank you, Cynthia.

On behalf of the Women’s Bureau, I would like to thank our presenters: Carmen Aguiar, Ronald Hegt, and Jeff Schnepper for taking the time during this year’s busy tax season to speak on our conference call today.

I’d also like to thank the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants who recommended Ron Hegt for the call.

Last but not least, I’d also like to thank our listeners, and especially our Wi$e Up participants and mentors, for joining the call.

During the past hour, our speakers have covered a variety of topics from overlooked tax deductions and credits to tax-advantaged retirement accounts, with the goal of helping you identify ways to reduce your taxes.

We hope that what you have learned will help you make better tax-related decisions throughout the year and help you feel more confident when you file your taxes.

A transcript and an audio recording of today’s call will be available on the Wi$e Up Web site -- www.wiseupwomen.org -- next month. On the Web site you can also find copies of previous teleconference calls, including two earlier calls on taxes -- Understanding Taxes: Make the Most of Your Returns from March 2006 and WiSe Up About Taxes -- Plan Ahead from April 2005.

For additional information on the basics of taxes, check out the IRS’s online instructional program called Understanding Taxes. It includes tutorials to help you answer practical tax questions. The easiest way to find this resource is to Google “IRS Understanding Taxes.”

This concludes today’s call. We hope you will join our next WiSe Up teleconference call on March 30, 2007, from 2:00 pm to 3:00 pm Eastern Time. Again, thank you for listening.
